GMOD test engine build technicians are required to participate in the annual unified engine build workshop. In order to accommodate new technicians in the interim period between build workshops the following will apply. Engine build technicians who have not participated in the build workshop may be trained by technicians who have participated in the build workshop according to the test lab internal procedure. The engine build documentation of test engines by technicians who did not attend the workshop but were trained by technicians who did attend shall be signed by both technicians.
